Dreamland of Every Woman

Rimjhim Manna

CSBS, 1st Year

It was a quiet evening when Aheri, a Class XII student, was returning from her tuition through a market. A few strangers blocked her way and began to trouble her, so she felt afraid and cried loudly, but no one came to rescue her as the market was empty at 9:00 PM.

At that moment, she thought that she had a tiny Chip, named 'safetyguard' implanted behind her ear, [Safetyguand is a tinny chip,created to stop crimes against people], the girl just said "I am in Danger, Please help".

The moment it was spoken, the chip became activated and within seconds, connected with Aura, the Global AI Network. Then a Drone appeared and created a protective barrier of light around the girl. The brightness of the light was so high that the attackers' eyes were dazzled.

Later the chip scanned the attackers' identity and broadcasted the scene to the Women Safety Authority.

Within a few minutes, the Woman Safety Authority's Rescue team came to that place. Then the girl said; "I am now safe". Instantly the protective barrier disappeared, then the Rescue Team safely placed her to her family.

The attackers wanted to escape from the place but the location was tracked by AI. Then the attackers were arrested and punished.

Thus Technology helped the girl and became guardian of the girl in this incident.
